Escape the crowds...

Experience golf as it should be played, within totally natural surroundings and a challenging terrain, combined with an excellent golf climate year-round provided by the Gulf Stream current. Madeira is a precious environmental haven, where two thirds of the island is strictly preserved as natural parks and wildlife sanctuaries, and where golf courses resemble true botanical gardens.

Ranked as one of the top 100 courses in Europe, Clube de Golf do Santo da Serra is the oldest course in Madeira. The 9-hole Serras course was originally built in 1937, and re-designed in 1991 by Robert Trent Jones Sr. when he created the new 18-hole championship course, transforming Santo da Serra into a spectacular 27-hole course.

Clube de Golf do Santo da Serra has been the host of the islands' most prestigious tournaments, including the Madeira Island Open – part of the European Tour, for the past twelve years.

The challenge of its mountainous terrain, ample fairways, beautiful lakes, strategic bunkers and four different tee positions on each hole provide a spectacular feast of golf.

The clubhouse is extremely luxurious and welcoming, and the training facilities are another major attraction.

Discover the course that the professionals of the PGA European Tour call home.
